

Philip Callen

Host, Emcee, and Auctioneer

Providing transformational hosting services to make your event a success in every way.

"We've enjoyed working with Philip Callen as our emcee and auctioneer at our annual event. He's an extremely warm and caring person, with a tremendous passion for nonprofit work. His on-stage charisma and ability to improvise and read the room is phenomenal! With Philip's help, we've increased our auction donation levels significantly."

-Heidi Satre, Development Director, Neighbors Inc

It's go time...You've planned your event meticulously. You've sold the tickets, you've got the catering ready to go, you've built fantastic auctions, your audience is there, and they're ready to support you in any way you ask. What's next?

This is where I come in...I'm Philip Callen. For more than 30 years, I've been serving non-profits as a host/emcee and auctioneer.

I'm the first person onstage, welcoming the audience, bringing them in, telling your story, making sure that your audience hears every touchpoint you've so carefully planned. And when it's time to raise money with a live auction, a fund-a-need, whatever strategies you've chosen for your event, I've already built a relationship with your audience that's unique to that evening.

Each fundraising event is special, and ephemeral. Your friends, supporters, and sponsors have gathered together, and you've got this one exciting opportunity to tell your story and raise the critical funds your non-profit needs. I'm there to make sure you succeed.
